Positive, Respectful and Safe Learners

This is what we all decided we wanted Salt Ash Public School to look, feel and sound like and a way for us all to behave. It's something we have been talking a lot about and I have banged on about it heaps.

On our recent Central West excursion, at the end of day 2 I was walking along the bottom of "Golden Gully" near Hill End, I was hot, tired and had a bit of a sore knee. The kids were still keen though with a number of them talking about if they may find some quartz crystal. I heard this and mumbled something like "I know I won't find any because I'm not looking."

On hearing this one of senior boys said quietly but in an upbeat friendly sort of way "Gee that's not real positive Mr Price."

It gave us all a laugh and allowed me a bit of reflection time. I was able to boost my resilience and get involved with enthusiasm again. I even found some crystal. The kids are really getting it and we need to keep up with them.
